May be Drunk in Water.

The superstition that it is necessary, when drinking the King's health, to pledge his Majesty in a draught of some alcoholicliquor has been explided.

As long ago as October, 1902, Rear Admiral King-Hall obtained an opinion from his Majesty, through Lord Knollys, that total abstainers need compromise neither their loyalty nor their : convictions; when drinking his Maj sty's health!

Permission to publish the letter, which was no first employed for private circulation, has now been granted by his Majesty, and hero it is :-

Dear, Captain King-Hall,-

His Majesty is alraid that it would be difficult to make any public announcement that he considers his health can be as loyally drunk in water as in wine. The King commands me, however, to say 1376 that you are authorised to make it known "privately," and in may way that you think best, and you are authorised to state that total abstainers can always drink his health in some non-alcoholic drink to his > entire satisfaction. October 17, 1802.

Navy testotalers have been aware of thisgracious expression of opinion on the part of his Majesty for the past three years. The publication of the letter now comes as a boon to many a harassed abstainer, who has frequently been caught between his heartfelt loyalty and the sanctity of his temperance pledge.

WELL DONE, "IPHIGENIA!"

The return of the gualayers' team of 1905, just published by the Admiralty, shows that the China Squadron-took seventh place in the twelve fleets and squadrons which competed. The best shooting ship of the fourteen in the squadron was the Iphigenia, which scored a total of 97.40, the best shot with the 6 in. gun being patty officer H. Burgess, and the best shot with the 4 in. gun, able seaman S. Edward. The other ships in the merit were -Sutlej, Oceans Hogue, Astrea, Andromeda, (now the flagship), Centurion alleged inaccurate sights caused comment), Glory (ox-flagship), Cadmus, Albion (ex-degehip), Bonaventure, which joined the squadron from the abolished Pacific Squadron. It cannot be said that the squadron did well. It formerly held the pride of place in these returns, but it has been steadily on the down grade for some time. Its friends hope to see it beain at the top of the list, instead of within four of the bottom.

THE FATAL PHONOGRAPH.

An Unfortunate Record.

The Daily Mirror manages to get hold of some extraordinary stories. The following from that journal's Paris correspondent would be hard to beat :- That & 5 sometimes most imprudent to register, private phonepraph records is shown by an adventure that has befallen a lady in Parle, which will lead to her husband taking divorce proceedings against her.

M. Partant, an insurance agent, gave a party at his house. Among those present was his friend M. Paul Carmin.

After his wife, Amelie, who is a good singer, had given a song, M. Partant brought out a phonograph and played what he thought was the record of a comic song in the machine. .

To the surprise of all, however, it was a duet that was rendered, and the voices, were recognised to be those of Mme. Partant and M. Camin.

The duet was interlarded with the sounds of kissing, and with various exclamations, such as 'Paul, my precious,' 'Amelie, my own sweet one."

The party broke up in confusion. The husband sent for a policeman, and accompanied his wife and his friend to the office of the district magistrate, where he charged the pair with misconduct and left the phonograph record as proof of the fact.

A SAFE REMEDY FOR ALL SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES

If you suffer from any disease due to an im-pure state of the Blood, FROM WHATEVER CAUSE ARISING, you should test the value of Clarke's Blood Mixture, the world-famed Blood Purifier and Restorer. HONGKONG, BATUBDAY, JANUARY 27, 1906.

MR C. B. Fry, perhaps the best known.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF RIFLE-SHOOTING.

all-round athlete in Great Britain, has commenced to afford Lord Roberts very acceptable aid in his endeavour to stir up the national conscience upon the subject of defence. Mr Fry declares himself as a bitter and uncompromising opponent of conscription in any shape or form but he admits, as every. one who has a grain of commonsense must admit, that we are failing to recognise our responsibilities as custodians of the most goodly heritage held by any of the peoples o Instead of throwing in his lot with the well-mean. ing persons who hold that we should wait until war is thrust upon us and then declare for "Peace at any price," he realises the truth of the adage that preparedness for wer is the best means of securing the advantages of peace. In a series of articles which Mr Fry had just started when the last mail left Home he is about to unfold a scheme for popularising rifle-shooting. As yot we know nothing of the details of the plan which the famous athlete has worked out but those who know the splendid energy with which he applies himself to all the sporting arts will feel fairly confident that he will prosent a scheme which will prove worthy of careful consideration. He works from the basis that, wisely or unwisely, men of the British blood are passionately addicted to out-door sports. The amount of time an energy which the race annually expends in cricket, football, rowing, hunting and various other open air sports is incalculable. These exercises of cour in an oblique way prepare the frame for the hardships of war, but they one and all possess the demerit that they are not military arts. Homer tells us that the Greeks employed their recreative hours in the chariot race, the fight of the costus, wrestling, footracing, throwing the discus, archery and dartbeing frequently turned over, ensures al ing the javelin, proficiency in each of, which was of primary importance on the battlefields of the day. A pertinent reference is made by Mr Fry to the study. fact that Crecy was won by the prowess of British archers and it need that among village games at that period archery reigned supreme. To excel in any of the modern field-sports A Prominent Publisher Endorses presupposes good physical condition military arts. If some method can

It is not at all clear how this is to be done and the difficulties are great. Cricket and football fields do not take up much room but a rifle range has to be chosen with due regard to a number of requirements. Practice short ranges would be better than nothing but to make the sport of real utility competitions should be under conditions resembling those which would attend actual warfare as closely as possible. Perhaps Mr Fry has a solution for the difficulties; in any event he has won the esteem of those who think the British Empire worth preserving by his courage in attacking a problem which too many publicists at Home have declared insoluble.

LIBERAL PROMISE AND PERFORMANCE.

When referring some little time since China is commented on in the Nangfangpao, to the probable course of political and several instances mentioned of literary events at Home, we expressed the belief that the responsibilities of office would have the effect of making the Liberal Ministers reflect before putting into operation any of the drastic changes of policy which they declared, manded. Our prognostication has been verified even sooner than we anticipat" ed. If one thing more than another row it was the reckless expenditure delay a new lamplighter was procured. 11 a.m.—Meeting of Hongkong, Canton and the Conservative regime. " ten years," wailed Mr Asquith at Sheffield, "the national expenditure has risen to 43 millions, half of which > was a wide field for remission. without a reduction of expenditure. The new Government however hoped to economise without weakening the service." Is it the same Mr Asquith who admitted, according to the cable The V.R.C. Magazine. we published yesterday, that he "saw very little hope of reducing the expenditure this year?" Principally it was the military and naval expenditure that the Mr Asquith out of office regarded with such horror and alarm His colleague Mr Haldane, Secretary that "the Prime Minister laid such stress on the matter of efficiency that he was prepared if it was thought requisite to spend more money and get more men. . . than reduce the expenditure on artil

He (Mr Haldane) would rather resign lery by a single penny. The Government's policy was to follow up the best which was done by its predecessor." And even Mr Burns has made a public confession that unemployment coolies to carry for them and went away and other afflictions cannot be instantaneously swept from the face of the earth even by a Liberal administration. Speaking to his constituents at Batterses he said :- Economic amateurs, industrial quacks, purveyors of social nostrums and charitable schemes would have a stern critic in him. He would not trouble his mind nor his post with the over-consideration or dispropertionate attention to pauperising palliatives that were illusory, delusive, extravagant, and costly. Rather would he, by determination, slow, solid, political, and administrative work, keep his eye on those permanent organic changes in society that were better than pauperising sedatives or indoor and outdoor relief. In a word, while helping the poor, they must be careful that they did not endow poverty,' What do the hungry unemployed who denounced Mr. Balfour as a callous monster because he expressed the same beliefs in other words, think now? The cautious attitutde of the Prime Minister in regard to Chinese labour in South Africa satisfactorily rounds off the "New Policy", which, as we forecasted, would be the Conservative policy, slightly watered to su palates unaccustomed to strong wine.

The Chinese Governor-General Kirin is sending 16 Manchurian officials and gentlemen to Japan for purposes of

In regard to the Angle-Tibet treaty he said that China desired Tibet to be administered in a similar manner to the other provinces, and China giving more effective administration. England could have no cause to apprehend hostile movements, hence China looked for a modification of the treaty before the could adhere to it.

(From Our Correspondent). E VOATING THE CHINESE.

Amoy, January 22. Recently at a meeting of the trustees of the Fung Wen College in Amoy it was decided that for the future more attention should be given to the study of Chinese. It is formally announced in Paris that and that double the time that had hitherto direction. It is to be feared that in It is believed that the Government is colleges of a kindred nature whilst a certain limited time has been devoted to the learning of Chinese characters the larger portion has been given to the acquisition of English and the study of scientific subjects. Only very lately a lad who had studied for nearly seven years in one of these Auglo-Chinese colleges, and who knew English in the imperfect way general amongst such young fellows, applied for a position in the Chinese post office. The post master reported that as far as his English was concerned he was capable of doing the work for which he had applied, but that his knowledge of Chinese was so elementary that he advised him to go and study it for three years more when he might possibly be able to undertake the duties of the office. This advice unfortunately came too late, for the young fellow was now too old to begin the study of the characters, which must be learned when a boy is young.

The announcement we published yesterday of the Government's intention to build' a post office at Kowloon came as good news to residents of that part of the Colony.

The establishment of an office at Kowloon will be a great convenience and is a step quite justified by the growing importance of the peninsula. Kowloonites are now connected with the city by telephone. and with the establishment of improved postal facilities will be relieved of the disadvantages from which they formerly suffered.

In is not intended that the Kowloon Post Office shall take over any of the work of the G. P. O. as far as the New Territory is concerned, its erection being solely for the convenience of Kowloon residents. Consequently it will not be a large structure. In fact in a sense the contemplated office. may be regarded more as a preliminary structure to meet present requirements than one to anticipate the prospectively large future requirements of the other side of the harbour. The site selected is a fairly central one, being in Salisbury Road (the new 100 feet road which is shortly to be opened leading direct from the Star Ferry Wharf) and a little east of the Time Ball Hill. This will be a busy thoroughfare when the new convenient for residents.

The structure, for which tenders are called, is to be of brick with a tiled roof, and the principal dimensions are:-length about 72 feet, breadth slightly more than 32 feet, and height about 23 feet. It will include an office for the post master, two clerical offices, a counter divided into two portions for Europeans, and Chinese and Indians respectively, together with othernecessary offices.

According to a Singapore paper, when a Mejor Everett, D.A.Q M.G., will proceed to India to rejoin his battalion, the 2nd Binof the Somersetshire Light Infantry, how at Campore. It is understood that an effort was made to have his services continued in his present appointment for another year, as it would be of advantage that the new General should not be deprived of Major Everett's long staff experience. But Major Everett's time, four years, is already up, and it is perhaps only natural for him to desire to get again in touch with his regiment. It does not appear that any selection has as yet been made to fill Major Everett's place.

MODES AND MATTERS PRMININE.

Betty's London Letter.

LONDON, December 29. GOWNS FOR THE BACES-In my notes this week on matters feminine, I must try to give a few useful hints as to frocks and hats suitable for the race week, which will be in sight by the time this article reaches Hongkong. Winter fashions are at the moment so fully established in London that this is rather a difficult task, and one has to refer to summer clothes to be seen on the stage.

A frock which would be an ideal one t wear on Hongkong Derby Day was one worn by a graceful and charming actress the "Love Path," last week. It was made of the palest blue sois de Chine over silk underskirt of the same colour. The skirt was very full at the waist and was finished at the hem with three deep tucks. The bodice had a collar of Chinese embroidery in darker shades of blue and was ornamented with allver buttons. The elbow alnewes were finished with deep frills of saft white chiffon. With this delightful fpock was worn a hat made entirely of tlny frills of valenciennes lace, trimmed with bunch of shaded pink roses and long pale
